"School of Motion's Team Training workshop was an incredible multi-day learning experience that benefited every level of our Art Department, from junior designers to senior leadership. The training was packed with practical tips, techniques, and workflows that had an immediate impact on how our team works.

Starting with the in-person workshop and following it up with All Access created a seamless path for continued learning and development. The experience was both inspiring and effective. I can't recommend both the Team Training Workshop and All Access enough."

White Glove Training

CBS Sports works on the cutting edge of broadcast design and animation. The team moves seamlessly between 2D motion graphics, 3D world building, and visual effects techniques.

School of Motion flew out and led 2 days of in-person workshops in the NYC office, tailored specifically to the workflows of CBS artists.

With our deep bench of instructor talent, we can bring in experts for every aspect of Motion Design, tailored to any company's unique needs.
